Senate Democrats Seeking Tax Compromise

Bundestag Approves Arming Of Free Germany For Defense

Adenauer Wins Half Million German Army

Adenauer Wins Half Million German Army
BONN, Germany, Feb. 27 (AP) — The West German Bundestag ratified national rearmament by a crushing majority tonight.

Under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's grim predding, the lower House also agreed to let the coal-rich Saar become an autonomous territory under a European commissioner. Twice it has been lost by Germany in world wars.

But in a resolution liable to imperil French ratification of German rearmament, Adenauer's own party and two others in his coalition declared the Saar's "attachment to Germany is not affected" by this Saar pact.

The resolution was adopted by a huge margin in a show of hands. It declared: "The Saar agreement does not affect the attachment of the Saar to Germany under the 1937 frontiers, full political freedom will be restored in the Saar before and after the plebiscite on the new Saar statute, and the European commissioner for the Saar will undertake to guarantee this freedom."

A Socialist resolution calling for immediate withdrawal of French troops and police from the Saar was rejected in a second show of hands.

The four Paris treaties to arm 500,000 Germans for European defense in a sovereign Bonn republic were ratified on final reading. Two-thirds of the Bundestag voted yes. Within three weeks, German parliamentary ratification is to be completed by the big government majority in the Bundesrat (upper House).

Solidly backing up Adenauer's seminal victory earlier today, the Bundestag voted this way on the latter four treaties tonight.

To end the Western occupation of West Germany, restore its sovereignty and lift the ban against rearmament—324 to 151.

To authorize the United States, Britain and France to station 400,000 troops in the Bonn republic—321 to 153.

To admit West Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Western European Military Union, a joint bill—314 to 157.

The Chancellor wrung this overwhelming approval for his military alliance with 14 Western nations, including the United States, after 42 hours of debate. It covered four days and nights. Opposition Socialists were the only party that fought him on the alliance. They warned it would finalize the partition of Germany, leaving 18 million of their countrymen under permanent Soviet control.

The price Adenauer paid for French consent to German sovereignty and remilitarization—indemnity separation of the Saar—provoked a rebellion in his four-party government.

Free Democratic and Refugee party deputies denounced this waiver of 960,000 German-speaking Saarlanders and 991 square miles of heavily industrialized territory. Socialists called it treason. Adenauer's defense was that West Germany's comeback depended on this sacrifice. The vote on the Saar agreement with France was 263 to 202, with 9 abstentions.

Apparently to halt rebellion in his coalition, Adenauer's Christian Democrats, the Free Democrats, and the German party introduced tonight's Saar resolution. But the coalition's Refugee party thought it too weakly worded and did not help sponsor it.

Hoover Commission Hits At Chaos In Medical Services Resulting In Huge Wastes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — The Hoover Commission said today that "chaos" describes present relations among the federal government's numerous medical services. It recommended sweeping changes designed to cope with "lack of coordination," duplication of effort, and "huge wastes."

In a report to Congress—described by the commission staff as "the first full picture of the vast scope of federal health and medical services and of the impact they make on the taxpayers' pocketbook," the commission said federal agencies have assumed responsibility for complete or partial health and hospital care for 20 million of the nation's 160 million people.

The commission, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, and known officially as the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, teed off with this statement: "A review of the federal medical services shows great expenditures—$4,149,000,000 in 1954, including $2,020,000,000 in disability allowances—and a great deal of waste which could be prevented. Greater efficiency could be obtained."

Among measures recommended were these:

1. Establishment of a central coordinating council for all medical services;
2. Stricter procedures regarding allowing nonservice-connected disability care of veterans;
3. Elimination of present government care for merchant seamen;
4. The closing of 12 U. S. Public Health Service general hospitals;
5. Steps that might allow the closing of certain hospitals or other facilities of the military services and the Veterans Administration.

Collapse of the government coalition now might doom Italian participation in the Western European Union, now being debated in the Senate.

New Premier For Chiang Is Reported

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 27 (AP) — A sense of approaching crisis in Formosa Strait pervades Chiang Kai-shek's capital of Taipei today.

The lull along the offshore island front is considered ominous. It was broken today only by the burst of four Red shells on tiny Nationalist Tatan Island, near Quemoy, across the strait from Formosa.

Nationalist planes and warships swept the strait, looking for possible Communist "buildups" near Quemoy and the Matsu Islands, 100 miles northwest of Formosa. "If they found anything, it was not reported. With the Communists now on Nanchishan Island, 140 miles north of Formosa, the Matsus and Quemoy are the only important Nationalist offshore holdings.

The idea that events are brewing in the Formosa Strait that might transform the entire situation has spurred reports of a shakeup in President Chiang's Cabinet.

This may be decided at a meeting of the powerful Central Committee of the Kuomintang, Chiang's ruling party. It is scheduled to open sessions Tuesday.

Some quarters feel the situation demands appointment of a new premier, who in the Nationalist setup heads the Cabinet, not the government. They believe the job calls for a military man.

O. K. Yui, the present premier, is rated as honest, capable and hard working. But he has not quite achieved Chiang's closest inner circle. He also has no military experience.

Yui had talked about fighting to the death for the Tachens and Nanchishan, all abandoned without a fight.

He may have been talking for public consumption or to delude the Communists. It is possible, however, that although premier he had been kept in the dark about impending events.

Among possible choices for premier are Gen. Chou Chih-jou, secretary-general of the Nationalist Defense Council, and Chang Chun, a former premier who now is Chiang's secretary general.

Chou was chief of the Nationalist air force six years and chief of the general staff four years from 1950.

If a change in the premiership is decided, Foreign Minister George Yeh is expected to retain his post.

Yeh was principally responsible, on the Nationalist side, for the mutual defense pact with the United States signed at Washington Dec. 2.

10,000 Persons Evacuated From Flooded Towns

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 27 (AP) — Evacuation of about 10,000 persons from three flooded towns in New South Wales began tonight.

The new evacuations will boost the number of persons driven from their homes to about 50,000 in four days of floods.

Police put the death toll at near 50, including persons who have been missing for more than 24 hours. Hundreds of other persons are listed as "unaccounted for."

All 3,500 inhabitants of Narrabri, 360 miles northwest of Sydney, began leaving town as floodwaters surged higher.

In the other two towns being evacuated, Maitland and Singleton, the water level dropped four feet but the menace of disease grew and it was decided to begin moving 6,000 persons from their homes.

Democrats Favoring Closer Red Ties Take Early Lead in National Diet Elections

TOKYO, Monday, Feb. 28 (AP) — Japan's Democrats, favoring closer ties with the Communists, took an early lead in returns from Sunday's national election—which broke all voting records.

Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama's Democrats captured 91 of the first 203 seats decided in the race for 467 seats in the lower House of the Diet (Parliament).

Second were the equally conservative Liberals with 58. The left wing Socialists had 30, the right Socialists 21 and minor parties and independents 3. The Communists had not yet won a single

The early vote was counted from rural districts, which are conservative.

The rural vote was supporting Hatoyama's policy of trying to be friends with the Communist powers as well as the United States. He also favors rearming Japan.

Unofficial tabulations showed 37,991,034 voters—77.4 per cent of those registered—cast ballots. This eclipsed the previous high of 36,100,401 in 1952 and underscored the keen interest of voters.

The Socialists, who vigorously oppose rearmament and are against Japan's current close ties with the United States, were holding their own in rural districts.

Hatoyama's Democrats dumped incumbent members of former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's

Liberal party in several races. The Liberals held the most seats, 180, in the old House.

Slightly more than 1,000 candidates were on the ballots in 118 voting districts.

Hatoyama plumped for increased trade with Red China and diplomatic relations with Russia. But he said he did not want to weaken Japan's strong bonds with the United States.

Yoshida blistered Hatoyama with a charge of luring voters with false hopes of trade. He declared Russia would use trade to try to communize Japan. As postwar premier, Yoshida installed the policy of close cooperation with the United States.

Dulles Tells Laos People Not To Fear

VIENTIANE, Laos, Feb. 27 (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles came almost to the border of Red China today and told leaders of Laos they need not worry about invasion because the Manila Pact's striking force in the Pacific would act as a deterrent.

This jungle monarchy of two million people, once a part of French Indochina, has been reluctant to deal severely with dissident forces, including the Pathet Laos, a Communist-supported group which was left in the two northern provinces of Phong Saly and Sam Neua by the Indochina armistice. The Lao-tians have feared retaliation from the Communist Chinese and the Vietnamese just over the border if they did not handle the Pathet Laos with kid gloves.

After Dulles' talk with Crown Prince Tiao Savang Vatthana, however, the prince said he was reassured by the secretary's words.

Dulles' visit seemed to hearten the Laotian officials. A spokesman said they felt alone in this part of the world since they no longer are a French colony. They were given their independence at the end of the Indochina war.

Dulles flew here from Rangoon where he talked with Prime Minister U Nu and other Burma leaders Saturday. What appeared to be a frosty atmosphere eased considerably Sunday when U Nu saw the secretary off from the Rangoon airport.

Youth Wounds Mother, Then Kills Himself

PERKINS AMBOY, N. J., Feb. 27 (AP) — A 20-year-old youth, facing jail or Army service, critically wounded his mother early today, then forced a couple to drive him around five hours before he returned home and killed himself in front of police.

He was Charles Johnson, a stocky, good-looking Army veteran out of a job and recently convicted of possessing a stolen car.

A Staten Island, N. Y., judge had ordered him to reenlist in the Army by March 11 or face a jail term.

Police said Johnson came home drunk and argued with his mother.

He answered questions by Rep. Keating (R-NY) in an interview prepared for television stations in Rochester, N.Y., (WHAM-TV), and Buffalo, N.Y., (WBBM-TV).

The defense official said "budgetary considerations are secondary" in Pentagon planning for long range "reasonable, adequate defense."

He added that the American serviceman "is entitled to, and we are going to provide him with, the very best, most effective weapons in the country and we hope and believe always better and more of the proposed controversial outback

Americans Freed By Chinese Reds Express Their Remorse

HONG KONG, Feb. 27 (AP) — Two Americans showing the effects of 3½ years' close detention by the Chinese Communists on spy charges arrived here today declaring they were "full of shame and remorse for their crime against the Chinese people."

The two are Malcolm Bersohn, 29, American medical student of New York City, and Mrs. Austin Rickett, 35, former Wave ensign and wife of Walter A. Rickett. The Ricketts were Fulbright scholars. They formerly lived at Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Rickett's father Harold W. Austin, lives at Yonkers, N.Y.

Bersohn and Mrs. Rickett reached the border between the Hong Kong colony and Red China about noon today. A first report here said Rickett also was released, but it later developed only Mrs. Rickett had been freed. She said her husband is still in the Peiping prison and she did not know whether he had been sentenced.

Hong Kong newsmen who have met hundreds of expellees from Red China said Bersohn and Mrs. Rickett appeared to be among the most thoroughly brainwashed to arrive here yet.

Ten days ago both were suddenly called before a Communist court and "tried" on espionage charges. Both confessed, pleaded guilty, were sentenced to 3½ years and ordered expelled since both had already served that long.

Bersohn and Mrs. Rickett were jailed in 1951 and 1952, respectively. However, the Reds ruled that Mrs. Rickett who had first been under house arrest, had served as long as Bersohn.

Meeting newsmen Bersohn and Mrs. Rickett gave interviews that at times seemed almost unreal. Strikingly similar phrases were used by both when they spoke of the "harm" they had done to the Chinese and their eagerness to be "honest" in the future.

The pair said they had recently seen two other Americans in the Peiping prison, Father Harold Rigney of Chicago and Miss Harriet Mills of New York City. Father Rigney headed the Roman Catholic Rutjen University in Peiping.

Although he and the other 15 faculty members voluntarily turned over control of the school to the Reds in February 1949, they were accused of plotting to take their (Continued on Page Seven)

U. S. Infantry Has 80 Percent More Fire Power Not Counting New Atomic Weapons

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Dep. Secretary of Defense Robert B. Anderson said today that American infantry divisions have "approximately 80 per cent more firepower" now than in World War II. And he said this didn't count atomic cannon or guided missiles.

The concentrated battering a division can give an enemy will be increased by the "capabilities of such new weapons as the 280 mm Atomic cannon, the Corporal guided missile and the Honest John free rocket," Anderson said.

Atomic cannon and the missiles now are being incorporated into the standard organization and tactics of American ground forces in Europe.

Anderson gave no further details in sketching increased infantry power which one of his Pentagon spokesmen says is one reason for effective weapons than anyone does or would have . . .

"We are maintaining," Anderson said, "a very aggressive research and development program that takes full benefit of the growing technological capability and scientific ability as rapidly as it becomes realistic."

"We are placing great emphasis on airpower," in the new "long-haul" defense program, Anderson said. "And at the same time," he added, "we are trying to add as well to the combat effectiveness of all of our surface components."

He said the defense program "very broadly is aimed at preventing the outbreak of a major war and of countering the nibbling aggression of possible limited war and of maintaining a capability that we can maintain for tomorrow, next year, or five years, or whatever time is necessary."

Would Put Off Tax Cut Until July 1, 1956

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Influential Senate Democrats today were reported backing a compromise that might help bring a truce in the congressional tax battle with President Eisenhower.

The new plan would put off until July 1, 1956, the proposed $20-a-person income tax cut and would extend present corporation and excise levies to the same date.

Sen. George (D-Ga) said he did not know whether such a proposal would be laid before the Senate Finance Committee tomorrow. The committee meets then to consider a House-approved tax bill carrying the $20 reduction which Eisenhower has denounced as reaching "the heights of fiscal irresponsibility."

George said that if a situation arises where a compromise seems in order "we might do something about it."

From other sources it was learned that the compromise, reportedly first suggested by Sen. Smathers (D-Fla), has the tacit approval of Democratic committee members with the exception of Chairman Byrd (D-Va).

Byrd said he had not been consulted and would not comment. There were indications, however, that he was not likely to receive the proposal favorably.

The Virginian has opposed cutting any taxes now because of the prospect of further increasing the federal deficit. Sponsors contended, however, that the compromise actually might increase Treasury receipts in the new fiscal year beginning this July 1.

The House voted to make the proposed $20 reduction effective next Jan. 1. In a full year, this cut would be calculated to lose $2,200,000,000 in revenue. In the period between Jan. 1 and July 1, however, the loss has been estimated at only $800 million and this loss would be avoided if the compromise change in dates were approved.

The House voted to extend for one year the corporation and excise rates which otherwise would drop April 1. These levies now yield about three billion dollars a year.

By extending the present rates three additional months, until July 1, 1956 the Senate Democratic compromise would be calculated to provide about 750 million dollars extra revenue in that three month period.

Interested Democrats said the proposed July 1, 1956 date for starting the $20 income tax reduction and lowering the corporation and excise levies would force a tax showdown for the Eisenhower administration at the beginning of the presidential campaign.

While he declined to discuss the compromise plan, Smathers made it clear in an interview he would welcome such a showdown.

"I think that by suggesting in his State of the Union message that the Republicans might sponsor a tax cut next year, President Eisenhower has brought this issue to a head," Smathers said. "The President practically invited Democratic action on a tax cut since he indicated there may be one next year in any event." He added:

"The Democratic position is that if there is going to be a tax reduction it should go first to those that we believe need it most, the people in the lowest income brackets."

Sponsors of the compromise said they hope not only to avoid a sharp reduction in Treasury receipts now but also to give Congress an opportunity for another look at the fiscal picture next year to determine whether any reduction then should be made.

Eisenhower said that if a current upswing in business continues and there can be some further reduction in government expenditures the way might be opened for a tax cut in 1956.

Red Editors Confused On Top Soviets

T. B. TOM WHITNEY
AP Foreign Staff

WHOS ON top in the Kremlin these days: party boss Nikita Khrushchev or new premier Nikolai Bulganin? Are you puzzled? If so, you're not alone.

There are experienced Russian and Chinese Communist editors who apparently are pretty confused themselves about this right now. For them it's a serious question. They could lose their necks if they guess wrong.

It's the famous old Kremlin name game again. Whose name comes first? Under Soviet rules unless the listing is strictly alphabetical the biggest man should come in front. Stalin's always did.

So who is first now: First Secretary of the Central Committee Khrushchev or handsome Premier-general Bulganin?

It all depends on what you read or hear. On Feb. 24 Moscow radio broadcast a news item published all over Russia on a meeting honoring Soviet Army day. From among top Soviet leaders only two were named as being present. Premier Bulganin's name came first and Khrushchev second.

But in Pravda the day before it was different. Marshal Ivan Konev published an article praising Khrushchev and Bulganin in that order.

On Feb. 23 in Port Arthur, the Soviet naval base which is now being given to the Chinese Communists, there was a great celebration. The Chinese Communist radio said two portraits hung there for the occasion: Bulganin and Mao Tse Tung. This seemed to put Bulganin in front.

When Moscow radio reported the event it failed to mention the two portraits at all. The Chinese Communist radio itself the next day reported a speech at the Port Arthur ceremony by Soviet ambassador to Peking P. F. Yudin in which he listed Soviet leaders in the delegation to China last fall: Khrushchev, Bulganin etc. in that order.

Confusion is compounded, however, by the continuing habit of the Soviet press when it reports the presence at some meeting of all the members of the Big Nine (the Central Committee Presidium). It lists them alphabetically just as it has ever since last June when Malenkov's name came first in the nine and Khrushchev's last.

All this is amusing and in a way significant politically. It would be foolish, however, to jump to any far-reaching conclusions from the Moscow play with names—at least until the Russians themselves make up their mind whether Khrushchev or Bulganin should be an indication of who is carrying for the time being the more weight. For the present it seems very unlikely that either one has unlimited absolute power on the Stalin model.

What difference for the outer world there might be between Bulganin and Khrushchev, if any, is by no means clear. Many people in the west, because of ardent hopes for peace, often seem to be included to overexaggerate policy differences within the Kremlin. No doubt they do exist and are important. But it should never be forgotten that all these leaders are Communists, all disciples of Lenin and pupils of Stalin trained in his school. They may argue among themselves for personal power or about tactics, but in general Bulganin, Khrushchev, Molotov and Malenkov too, are all fully committed to the same general over-all strategy and Communist Party line.

Leader Warns Of Veto On "Union-Busting" Measures

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader says he will veto "any form of union-busting" legislation that may be passed by the 1955 General Assembly.

The Democratic governor made the promise to Pennsylvania labor last night in a speech before a meeting of the AFL League for Political Education.

Leader told the AFL leaders such so-called "right-to-work" legislation has not been proposed yet in the legislature at Harrisburg but said it is "a new menace in America—that is rapidly becoming nationwide."

Leader said he would veto "promptly and emphatically" any such legislation if it should be passed by the House and Senate.

"Beneath the sheen of high-sounding phrases, the advocates of social reaction are seeking to promote the interests of ugly and tarnished private privileges," Leader said.

"The ultimate goal of these proposals—in no matter what form they are presented to state legislatures—is quite clear: they are designed to lower wages, permit the deterioration of working conditions, sap the consumer economy of many communities and strike a dangerous blow at the right to organize among working people for their own common interest."

"I serve notice here and now that I shall veto promptly and emphatically any such devious attempt to destroy legitimate activities of the organized labor movement to attain its proper place of responsibility and respect in the American community."

Evidence Mounts Critical Developments May Develop Soon In Far East Regions

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles returns from Asia this week to face an almost certain test of his newly completed system of anti-Communist alliances. This will be some kind of military showdown with Red China.

Officials here believe the crucial contest, which appears to be developing now, will be regarded by friendly Asian peoples as a measure of U.S. willingness to stand by them when the risk is great.

At the same time the British may think the risks are more than the United States should take for the stakes immediately involved. This could put additional strains on the alliance.

The critical area, authorities agree, is Nationalist China's offshore island line anchored by Quemoy and Matsu. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's abandonment of Nanchang three days ago is expected to speed up Communist operations against the Quemoy-Matsu sector.

Evidence that critical developments are to be expected soon is provided by State and Defense Department officials in the high volume of Red Chinese propaganda about moving on Formosa, and new military dispositions opposite Quemoy which have brought the islands' air strip and other installations under Communist artillery fire.

Dulles discussed the Formosa and its related Quemoy-Matsu problem with British Foreign Secretary Eden in private talks during the Bangkok conference last week.

The conference set up machinery for anti-Communist military and political planning in Southeast Asia under the Manila Pact signed last September. This completes the major work on the Far Eastern treaty system unless it is found feasible later to bring into a single treaty the series of pacts which now link the United States with Korea, Japan, Formosa, the Philippines, Australia-New Zealand and Southeast Asia.

Dulles regards this network as covering a single great front in the cold war—the front with Communist China. Moreover, he believes its effectiveness rests upon the confidence of free nations around this front that the United States will assist them and even fight for them if necessary provided they stand up for their own independence.

Dulles and Eden discussed at Bangkok whether any steps could be taken to dissuade the Chinese Communists from violent action. In this the British at least hope for some cooperation from Moscow. The Russians are happy to see trouble between the United States and Britain but both London and Washington experts think the Russians want the Red Chinese to avoid any action which could lead to a big war.

Democrats Warn Senate Delay May Force UC Tax Increase

Benefit Drop, Increases In Payment Due

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27 (P)—John Torquato, Labor and Industry secretary, said today Senate inaction on the administration's unemployment compensation program may force a drop in benefits and an increase in employer taxes March 31.

"The Republican senators have now delayed the program to the point that we're now in the process of notifying employers of a prospective increase in their contributions to the fund," he told a newsman.

The House recently approved a plan to increase maximum weekly jobless benefits from $30 a week to $35 and to increase the average pay roll tax on employers from 12 to 15 per cent.

But so far the Senate GOP majority has held up action on this as well as a companion plan to preclude the March 31 automatic cut in benefits and boost in employer tax rates, the fear voiced by Torquato.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader, has called for public hearings on the entire subject. Chairman James S. Berger (R-Potter) of the Senate Labor Relations committee has taken no action on this as yet. The bill is in his committee.

Republican opposition also has been voiced to a provision in the house-passed bill increasing from 26 to 30 weeks the maximum period for payment of unemployment compensation.

The increased payroll tax on employers also has come under GOP scrutiny but Berger said no decision has yet been reached.

"The thing is very fluid at present," Berger commented.

The administration estimated the increase payroll tax would increase employer contributions to the fund to 140 million dollars as against 88 millions last year. The State Chamber of Commerce placed the figure at 170 millions.

Meanwhile, Rep. Charles C. Smith, House Republican leader, challenged Gov. George M. Leader to "come forward soon" with a solution to the tax problem.

"In fairness to the people of Pennsylvania who finally will have to foot the bill," he said, "the governor should tell us the bad news as soon as possible."

Leader told his news conference last week that the budget office started hearings on departmental money requests and that the budget will be ready in early April.

Presentation of the budget usually signals preparation of a tax plan, although Leader has been silent on his ideas of raising up to a half billion dollars in new revenue to keep the commonwealth out of the red.

"Governor Leader should come forward soon with a solution for the tax problem or the people will think he is afraid of it," Smith said.

Mahany, echoing Smith's remarks on the eve of the opening of the ninth week of the 1955 Legislature, also expressed impatience on the tax plan delay.

He said Democrats reneged on a pledge to have the budget ready in March.

On other legislative fronts, Chairman Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong), said the Senate Public Health and Welfare committee, plans to authorize an inquiry in activities of Harry Shapiro, secretary of welfare, at the Laurelton State Village.

Shapiro charged ill-treatment of patients at a detention cottage at the Union County institution for mentally defective women and ordered the cottage closed. Leader supported Shapiro in the resulting controversy but also said he would support an impartial inquiry.

The resolution for the inquiry was introduced by two Republican senators, Sens. Samuel B. Wolfe (Allegheny) and Robert D. Fleming (Allegheny). Their resolution said an inquiry was needed "in the interest of fair play" to determine if the charges were true or false.

"Before taking office," Pechan said in a weekend statement, "Shapiro said he was going to keep politics out of the Welfare Department. Since being confirmed he has been playing politics. When he can't get institutional officials to resign, he fires them."

On Tuesday, a Senate committee is expected to look into a proposal for a statewide referendum on whether pari-mutuel betting on horse racing would be legalized in Pennsylvania.

In the House, the administration is expected to ask that branch to reject, on technical grounds, amendments to legislation to give the governor sweeping powers of government reorganization.

Thieves Break Into Two Area Distributors

THIEVES BROKE into two Stroudsburg area business places over the weekend and escaped with a little more than $35.

Stroudsburg State police said rear doors were forced at both Swisher Distributing Co., Tannersville, and McKeown Distributing Co., W. Main St., Stroudsburg.

The $35 was taken from the McKeown establishment at 1066 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, operated by William A. Bechtel. A small amount of change was removed from Swisher's police said.

Both places were ransacked, and office goods and equipment strewn about, police said. The break-ins occurred Saturday or early Sunday, police said.

Phenix City Defense To Start Today

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 27 (P)—The defense is scheduled to start presenting its case Tuesday morning in Albert Fuller's trial for the Phenix City gangland-style murder of anti-communist crusader A. L. Patterson.

A recess came Saturday after the prosecution rested after calling 44 witnesses. The trial started Feb. 15.

Judge J. Russell McElroy, in granting the defense motion, indicated the trial would be resumed Monday if Defense Council Roderick Beddow was ready. But Beddow said he saw little chance of starting again before Tuesday.

Fuller, 35, who was deputy sheriff at Phenix City when Patterson was killed last June 18, is charged with first degree murder.

Awaiting trial on the same charge are former Alabama Atty. Gen. St. Garrett and Arch Ferrell, ex-prosecutor at Phenix City.

The prosecution contends that Patterson, Democratic nominee for attorney general of Alabama, was gunned down in an alleyway behind his law office because of his campaign pledge to smash Phenix City's multi-million-dollar vice and gambling operations.

Presbyterian Delegates Returned

LOCAL delegates to the National Council of Presbyterian Men conference returned home yesterday.

The meeting was held in New York. Among those who attended the three-day meeting were E. H. Wyckoff, Rev. John Bollier and Horace Westbrook, all of First Stroudsburg Presbyterian.

In addition to these three men, a large group attended the sessions on Saturday and yesterday morning. Making this special trip were the following men:

Gordon Coy, Walter Wyckoff, John Neipert, Arlington Williams, Edward Williams and John Wellington, all of Stroudsburg; Rev. David Newquist, Spencer Cramer; Irvin Walter, William Ransberger, G. Willard Stetler, James Stetler and Donald Witcraft, all of Shavonee and Arthur Courtright, Middle Smithfield delegates.

A spokesman for the group said the trip was "very successful". Among the speakers were Billy Graham, the evangelist and Luther W. Youngdahl, U. S. district judge from Washington, D. C.

CAP Featured On Home Show

PART OF THE NBC-TV show "Home" this morning will be devoted to a survey of work done by American units of the Civil Air Patrol.

Capt. William A. Bechtel, head of the newly-reorganized CAP unit in Monroe County, last night urged local residents to watch the "Home" program which stars Arlene Francis for a better idea of what makes the CAP a practical, useful and valuable community organization.

Two Monroe Men Witness Atomic Tests

TWO MONROE County men are among the 5,000 soldiers selected to observe the 1955 atomic tests in Nevada.

They are Col. Norman H. Wiley, East Stroudsburg, and Lt. Col. Charles P. Bizonosky of Saylorburg.

Both men took part in "Exercise Desert Rock VI". They witnessed an atomic explosion from a trench located 4,000 yards away from the point of detonation.

The current blasts are being staged at Camp Desert Rock, Nev. The series is part of an overall atomic explosive testing program designed to gauge the effectiveness, and effects, of new weapons developed by the military.

Col. Wiley is the son of Mrs. Charles A. Wiley, 82 Brown St., East Stroudsburg.

He is regularly stationed at Fort Benning, Ga. as post surgeon of the U. S. Army Hospital there. His wife, Gladys, lives with him at Fort Benning.

Col. Wiley is a veteran of 26 years of Army service. He attended Lafayette College in Easton before entering the Army. He is a member of Phi Beta Pi and the Kappa Phi Kappa fraternities.

Lt. Col. Bizonosky's wife, Ruth, lives in Saylorburg. He is the son of Mrs. Michael Bizonosky, Effort.

He attended East Stroudsburg State Teachers College from 1936 through 1938 and began his Army career in 1947.

He is regularly stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. where he is a faculty member of the Command and General Staff College.

Medical Reserve Medals Readied

SPECIAL defense reserve medals will be presented to several local Medical Reserve officers at a meeting at 9 tonight.

The meeting is to be held at the home of Col. Evan C. Reese, 162 East Brown St., East Stroudsburg. All Army Reserve Medical Officers in the area of The Stroudsburgs are urged to attend.

This will be a regular scheduled meeting of the 2091st ARASU Medical Unit.

State Police Investigate $10,000 Bushkill Residence Blaze At Firemen's Call summer home here early yesterday and damaged another.

A loss of $10,000 for building and contents was set for the frame cottage of Louis Levenstein of Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y., located on Winona Falls Rd., a mile south of here.

Damage to the adjoining cottage of Rose Waldfogel, Highland Blvd., Brooklyn, N. Y., was estimated at $1,000.

The request for police investigation was made by Bushkill Fire Chief Lawrence DePue, whose men were called out by a 4:30 a.m. alarm telephoned in by a passing motorist, police said.

When firemen arrived the Levenstein place was too far gone to save, police said.

But the flames were extinguished at the Waldfogel home.

Both buildings were unoccupied at the time, police said.

Carrying out the State police investigation are fire marshal Sgt. William Murphy and Pfc. Norman McFadden of the Blakely substation, and Pfc. James Colbert of the Milford detail.

Walter Believes Matusow Emissary Of Anti-Anti-Reds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (P)—

Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Un-American Activities committee said today he is convinced that switch-witness Harvey Matusow is an "emissary of the anti-Communist movement."

Walter said he believed Matusow is lying now "not only to aid the Communist party, but in order to try to prevent justice from being done in the cases of those conspirators who were convicted and are faced with the serving of terms in the penitentiary."

Matusow says he lied frequently as a government witness at court trials and congressional investigations of Communist activity. He is scheduled to tell the Senate Internal Security subcommittee more about it tomorrow.

Soviets Have 700,000 TV Set Owners

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 27 (P)—Soviet television program producers can aim at a potential audience of 700,000 or more set owners.

The U. N. Statistical Yearbook for 1954, out tonight, reported there were that many licensed television receivers in the Soviet Union last year, giving it third rank in the world in this respect. The United States was first with an estimated 21,532,000 sets and Britain second with 2,411,000.

Canada had 665,000 sets, Cuba 150,000, Mexico 90,000, France 72,200, Brazil 70,000, Hawaii 44,000, Italy 35,000, West Germany 27,600, Argentina and Venezuela each 20,000, Belgium 15,000, the Netherlands 9,000 and Japan 5,000. Switzerland, Denmark, the Dominican Republic, French Morocco, Spain and Sweden had from 2,800 down to 400 each.

Learn, McCool To Address Police Reserve

DALE LEARN and Tom McCool will be guest speakers at a meeting of the "Police Reserve" group tonight.

The meeting will be held at the Italian Club at 7:30 p.m. A film on forestry will be shown.

Spokesmen for the unofficial reserve organization said they are working to enroll new members. All men interested in membership should attend tonight's meeting, they said.

Tobyhanna Card Party

TOBYHANNA—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Coolbaugh Township Volunteer Fire Co. will hold a card party tonight.

The party is slated to begin at 8 p.m. at Blakes Beechwood hotel. All residents of the community are invited to attend, a spokesman said.

Barlieb Barn Destroyed In $7,000 Fire

KUNKLETOWN — The $7,000 Jacob Barlieb barn at Smiths Gap burned down at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Kunkletown firemen kept the house alongside the structure from damage.

A daughter, Mrs. Alma Zettlemoyer, was heading for the barn to do the milking and saw smoke coming from the frame upper portion.

Her sister, Mrs. Violet Smith, a neighbor, telephoned the alarm. The firemen were led by Chief Lewis Pysker.

Neighbors and firemen salvaged all farm machinery which had been stored in the 36-by-60-foot building before flames engulfed it.

Two heifers and the Barliebs' entire stock of feed, hay and grain were destroyed in the fire.

Barlieb, 83, said the $7,000 estimate was for the barn alone.

Paul Engle Noted Editor To Speak Here

SPEAKER at tonight's Dutch Treat Club meeting will be Paul Engle, co-editor of the annual "O. Henry Memorial Collection" and a poet and novelist in his own right.

Engle will address the local club following dinner. The meeting begins at 6:30 in the Penn-Stroud ballroom.

A member of the faculty at the University of Iowa, Engle has had a hand in the development of some of this nation's most accomplished

Dies After Emergency Operation

READING, Pa., Feb. 27 (P)—An emergency operation at Reading Hospital failed to save the life of a 7-year-old Lebanon child.

Harry Knier died today after suffering a fractured skull in a fall from his mother's automobile.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Knier, of Sheridan, was rushed to the hospital yesterday for a delicate brain operation to remove a blood clot after tumbling from the back seat of the family sedan.

Mother and child were returning from the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lebanon, when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Knier was visiting another son in the Lebanon Hospital, 15-month-old Earl, who is still in critical condition from a kidney ailment.

The Highway Program

It hardly is necessary for anyone to point out the inadequacy of our present highway system, although President Eisenhower did a realistic job in his special message to Congress last week.

Anyone who rides in a motor vehicle is aware of the appalling accident toll, the extra cost poor roads impose on commercial traffic, congestion and the usefulness of the highways in wartime.

The President was less realistic in his statements on how the huge program he has outlined might be financed. He said he rather favors special bond issues, to be paid off out of a big boom in tax revenues from highway users which his advisory committee thinks is in the offing.

The committee, you may remember, recommended that the Federal Government put up $1 billion dollars in the next 10 years, the states and local governments the remainder of a total of 101 billions. The committee wanted to borrow this money, but not to count it as Federal debt. We don't think Congress will buy any such deal, no matter who proposes it. We hope Congress won't accept any highway program which involves more Government debt.

The President says the states "cannot effectively" meet the need for a vastly expanded highway system. The only reason they can't is lack of money. And the same reason applies to the Federal Government. It is more deeply in debt than any state.

If ever there was a time when the country could afford to pay for the roads it builds, as it builds them, it is now.

If we are going to borrow money in good times for the things we need, and pass the cost along—at a high rate of interest—to future generations, what are we going to do for the things we need in less good times?

We need a highway program. But first we need a way to pay for it. We hope Congress concentrates on that, phase of it.

Good Way to Save

With income of workers on the rise ever since the end of World War II, the U. S. Treasury Department's Payroll Savings Plan has been growing steadily and last year hit a peak of popularity as a means of putting something away for a "rainy day."

Last year, the Treasury Department reports, more than 9 million citizens were enrolled in the program and their purchases reached $5 billion, a record total. In this year, the Treasury hopes to add a million new savers, many from Harrisburg and Pennsylvania, in the bond-a-month club.

The 9 million who invested their money last year—mostly in the $25 variety— and the million more the Treasury hopes to add in 1955, are purchasing shares in their government and their own futures. It is hoped that thousands more will follow their example in the future.

George Sokolsky Says...

Musical Comedy Of Peter Pan Like Mozart Done In Bebop, Or Mambo

When I was a small boy, I was taken to see Maude Adams in "Peter Pan" and it has remained with me all these years as a sentimental journey to a temple of love and beauty. Maude Adams was a winsome personality that can never be forgotten.

Therefore when it was announced that James M. Barrie's play was to be done as a musical comedy, I feared to go lest another memory be shattered, another symbol of virgin cleanliness be dragged through the current vogue of vulgarity. Then I read that the play would be closed in 10 days and took my family to see it.

Back in the days of Charles Frohman, before the theater was forced to compete with movie houses and neon signs had not been invented, one approached the theater as though it were a temple. It was an occasion to go to the theater. There might have been a photograph of Maude Adams, but the front of the house was not plastered with signs and pictures and noisome lighting. There was no pushing and shoving because good manners were still in vogue. A special atmosphere was all-pervading even in the lobby.

In the 1935 version this simple play of dreamland is begun by an overture in brass which shakes the rafters, as though in preparation for Ethel Merman. So the climate of the play was shattered by an electric storm. Soothing violins and violas might have fixed a mood, as Wagner does in an overture. But here, it was brass, and what mighty trumpets and trombones! So the mood was gone and one was at a musical comedy, a show like all shows, satisfying because Mary Martin was the star and the sequences were pleasurable and amusing and the tunes were not bad, although in one's ear ran something from Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet" like a lost chord.

It was not James M. Barrie and it was only called "Peter Pan." It was like Mozart done in bebop or a tender song of Schubert twisted into a mambo.

In the lobby I saw a blow-up of a critique written by one of the men in New York who make or break plays—shows, they call them—depending upon the state of their pancreas. This reviewer finds this musical an improvement upon Barrie's "Peter Pan." This man of the moment feels that Barrie was too saccharine, too sweet, too sentimental. What he apparently prefers is a brass band. Someday, with such encouragement, someone will do Barrie's "A Doll's House" in jazz.

That, of course, is a point of view in a generation which does not go in for the gentle and the delicate. We are all supposed to be hard guys. Perhaps that is why so many second acts let the curtain fall on a four letter word, hurled at the audience by a woman. I recently saw "The Southwest Corner," the best written, the best produced and the best acted play that I have seen in at least five years. But the audience was inadequate. There seems to be little taste for this gem.

The theater is always a mirror of the times. The live theater has outlived the movie, the radio and television because it is vital and significant. But in the competition it has taken on some of the vulgarities of its competitors. It too often lowered its standards. Yet today when it is so difficult to buy tickets and any fairly passable play will have a run, it is about time to raise the standards, to bring the theater back to its late nineteenth and early twentieth century greatness. The fact that Shakespeare and Shaw pack them in each season ought not to be missed by those who finance plays. Such a fine play as "The Southwest Corner" ought to be a great success.

When one looks back, even in the field of musical comedies, to "The Merry Widow," "The Chocolate Soldier," "Sari," "The Flamingo Girl," "The Wizard of Oz," "The Student Prince," and dozens of others, there seems to be no reason to accept Minsky's Burlesque as a guide. Of course, we do have in these days, "Cockatoo," "The King and I," "Brigadoon," and other surprises.

Will someone please do "Peter Pan" as James M. Barrie wrote it?

—by H. I. Phillips

The Once Over

The Midget Situation With the Fulbright Wall Street fair show dead ahead, we have been looking into the midget situation...

In the last big probe of that nature J. P. Morgan, the elder, appeared with a midget on his lap, and while there are assurances this will be a non-midget performance from start to finish, we have our suspicions... Talking with a lot of midgets, we have found quite a few who admit their agents have been trying to get them a spot in the show, and these agents are pretty persistent persons. "I have been offered a billing on the lap of A. Keith Funston, N. Y. Stock Exchange head, and first witness," said a well-known Tom Thumb today, "but I am holding out for Ben Fairless or Harlowe Cutler."

"Mr. Fairless as a towering steel magnate is more in the Morgan mold," he explained. "But I would settle for Cutler who is a colorful figure in industry. Of course the best lap in this probe will be Bernard Baruch's. He appears on the last day of the inquiry according to the agenda. They are obviously saving him for the variety."

"Have you applied for Baruch's lap?" we asked. "No use. There's a list of applicants a mile long. Mr. Baruch's lap is even more famous than the late Mr. Morgan's. Any midget would give anything to get onto it. Bernard is a real person, he has wit and sparkle, but he doesn't need midgets."

"Why not?" we asked. "Because in most hearings he makes adults seem midgets by comparison." "Do you think that midgets can contribute anything to the inquiry?" "Yes. This is an entertainment age. They should start this show with eight midgets, acrobats or Indian club swingers. Bear in mind that a midget is a good judge of stock market moves. He is always closer to ground-floor information, and he has one terrific advantage." "What's that?" we asked. "Being so close to the floor, a midget does not hear all those tips as clearly as does a normal man with his ears up around six feet from the ground level. Midgets miss thousands of opinions which float about the stock exchange and brokerage offices, and this is a great help," he concluded.

Aune Corio, famed strip-tease dancer, says she can't possibly understand why her phone was tapped... "Aw shucks, Miss Corio: somebody wanted to find out what was coming off next."... The tapping of the Squibbs phone bothers us more... Probably the underground is having so many headaches it's out to discover each new development in the aspirin situation... It is estimated that 8,000,000 Americans have stocks in American industries... That's a lot of people to be grabbing for the financial news every night and exclaiming, "What! No split-up today?"... New Jersey has installed automatic slot-machine coin collectors at highway toll stations... Since Americans have become a coin-in-slot people, the idea will be taken in stride, but we think that all toll gates with these slot machines should give the weary motorist a sandwich or a cool drink... We would even popularize the coin-slot toll station by giving every passing auto a drawing in which some lucky guy would win a trip to Europe, a TV set and a year's supply of high test gas... Following the recent news that General Electric could manufacture real diamonds, we just heard of a girl who said she thought her boyfriend was going to ask her to become engaged as he had gone to Schenectady for a few days... This column's prediction six weeks back that "The Desperate Hours" would thrill Broadway no end has more than come true... "Sisk Stockings" gave Cole Porter the toughest job of his career, as retooling on road tryouts that began last November made him toss out a half dozen top melodies and write new ones to fit the changed situations... The FCC soon begins receiving views on "pay-as-you-get-eye-trouble" television... The fight for and against it will be so hot it may require U. N. intervention... We are for it provided that our cash payment for a video program keeps the plot free from interruptions by plugs for soaps, smokes, detergents and kitchen equipment.

Mount Etna, Sicily's 10,636-foot volcano, has had more than 50 major eruptions during recorded history. Its last violent outbreak occurred in 1950. Etna is Europe's tallest active volcano.

Death Of Hero Ira Hayes To Spark New Indian Probe

Washington—The recent death of Ira Hayes, the former Marine who helped raise the United States flag on Iwo Jima 10 years ago, may lead to another congressional investigation—this one into the plight of American Indians.

Hayes, who has been described as a "hero to everyone but himself," died of alcoholism and exposure on an Indian reservation in Arizona. His obituary quoted him as once saying: "The white race looks down on the Indian as if he were a little man, and I don't stand a chance anywhere off the reservation."

This expressed feeling of inferiority is said to have been contributed to his death, and has spurred efforts to do something for the nation's original inhabitants.

Demand is growing for a congressional investigation of conditions on Indian reservations. Those who make the demand cite figures showing that the average Indian in Arizona earns less than $600 a year, that the average life span in one Indian tribe is 17 years, and that most Indians have virtually no chance to gain an education.

Statehood—Indications are that there is a chance statehood may be approved at last for Alaska and Hawaii this year. Administration spokesman Douglas McKay, secretary of the interior in President Eisenhower's Cabinet, told the House interior committee recently that he had no objection to statehood for both territories this year.

However, McKay said he was "less enthusiastic about Alaska than I am about Hawaii," and asked that the two issues not be lumped into one bill. McKay expressed his feelings about Hawaii by stating: "The passage of statehood legislation for Hawaii is, to my mind, a 'must' of national policy..."

Several members of the committee expressed belief that the secretary had "made a good case" for admission of both territories. McKay made it clear that part of his objections to Alaskan statehood bills in the past was caused by lack of provisions giving the new state enough money to pay its own way. He said this was taken care of by a section of the new bill turning over 30 per cent of the land in Alaska owned by the federal government to the new state. He also wanted large areas of Alaska staked out for military reservations.

Baseball note—Congressmen, on whose shoulders weigh heavily the affairs of state, have other problems, too. For example, the Democrats got into quite a dilemma when Rep. Don Wheeler (D, Georgia), was defeated for re-election.

The reason was simple: Wheeler was the star pitcher for the Democrats' congressional baseball team which has whipped its Republican counterpart several years running.

Wheeler was defeated last November by Mrs. Iris Blitch, another Democrat. While her fellow Democrats concede she is pretty, they point out that she can't pitch—not even good enough for the Fresno Rockettes, a champion girl softball team.

However, everything is not dark to the Democrats. They believe they have found the answer to their problem in Rep. Torbert H. MacDonald (D, Massachusetts), who once was a minor league baseball player. He is being touted as Wheeler's replacement on the mound.

The sales manager of a fast-growing outfit sticks pins in a big relief map behind his desk to show where every one of his salesmen is located at a given moment. Ragdale, of the Pennsylvania sector, was not, in the opinion of his boss, living up to his early promise, and was summoned to the home office for a pep talk and re-indoctrination.

"I'm not saying you're in imminent danger yet of being fired," was the stern end of the apes exec's warning, "but if you'll note I've loosened your pin."

When it came to self confidence, an old Russian chess champion named Bogolyubov took the cake. Asked the secret of his success in game after game, he explained calmly, "When I have the white pieces, and move first, I win because I am white. When I have the black pieces, I win because I am Bogolyubov."

More Than 200 Subversive Aliens Free In Nation

Washington, February 23—More than 200 alien subversives are at liberty in the U. S.

The authority for this startling information is Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

The head of the Justice Department told a closed meeting of a House Appropriations Subcommittee that these subversives are roaming freely about the U. S. because they can't be deported. The government is completely blocked on that.

Reason for this astounding situation is the refusal of the subversives' native countries, most of them Communist, to take them back.

Brownell also told the legislators.

Retrial of Judy Coplon, on espionage charges, has been virtually abandoned. Further prosecution of the former Justice Department employee, whose conviction was overturned by a higher court, has been under consideration for several years, and this was the first official admission that the case is being dropped.

In the past two years, no government employee dismissed as a "subversive" has been prosecuted on that charge.

In response to questions, Brownell explained that the unemployable subversives are barred from working in defense plants, and are required to report regularly on their whereabouts and activities to Immigration officials. Otherwise these aliens, some of them considered "especially dangerous," are able to move around as they please.

Efforts are continuing to get rid of them, but the prospects are conjectural. Either their native countries don't want them, or consider them more useful living in the U. S.

Stormy Session—Brownell made these disclosures in the course of a hostile grilling.

He barely completed a prepared statement on his budget, when fire was opened on him with the demand, "How many Communists have you found in your Department? You've done a lot of talking about Communists in government; how many have you discovered in your own bailiwick?"

Brownell replied, "None has been turned up since Judy Coplon." This drew an angry retort from a Democratic Committee man.

"Then that means you haven't found any Communists," he snapped. "Judy Coplon was indicted and convicted by the previous Administration and not you. You had nothing to do with that case. And what have you done about it since the appeals court sent it back for retrial? Your Department?"

It's Never Too Young To Learn

—by H. G. Heller

Two events involving the operation of motor vehicles occurred recently which are so much in contrast—and so basic to the never-ending battle to bring safety to the highways—that they're worth telling in one story—even though they were unrelated in their release.

The first involves Charles B. King, one of the "grand old men" of the auto industry.

He built and drove the first Detroit car, helped manufacture the first Ford, and had some 41 patents, including those which put the gear-shifts inside the car, steering wheels on the left, and running boards on the side.

But there is a note of pathos. On the eve of his 87th birthday—Mr. King lost his license to drive an automobile.

It seems there were a couple of fender-rumpings. The result is that the liability companies wouldn't insure. So New York refused a license. And that right after receiving a gift, from Ford's grandson, of a new sport convertible.

Unfortunately, there's no escaping the fact that age slows up a driver, some drivers more than others. Drivers must react quickly to complex conditions of modern traffic, and that's why there is a movement in more and more States for regular examinations after a certain age.

Such tests are fair to drivers. An arbitrary age limit would not be. Some drivers are fit at 80; others unfit at 60, especially where impaired sight is concerned.

Loss of his license by this famous auto pioneer dramatizes these matters. Cars he built way back when it seemed to be racing at 15 miles an hour, but speed and power have increased and the need for alert and expert driving has increased proportionately.

Mr. King will continue to ride in that sports convertible, but his grandson will drive and we wish him many happy rides in it.

The other contrasting development: Child development experts at the University of Cincinnati aren't so sure that "it's never too late to learn" but they insist it's never too early to learn.

They're teaching three, four and five year old toddlers how to drive. The tots aren't put behind the steering wheel of an auto. The teaching is done with blocks, chairs and tricycles. Those who upset are warned about speeding, rights of way of others—all part of basic driving education and basic attitudes toward living and working with people aged caring for things.

It is the early age that children understand best, are moulded best and caring for things.

—by Walter Winchell

Factographs

Mining is one of man's oldest industries, some 8,600 workers, for instance, having been employed in the sixth millennium B. C. in copper and turquoise mines on the Sinai peninsula of Egypt.

Families with children tend to have better diets than those without children. This is so even though their average income is no higher and they have more persons to feed.

Nearly half of the nation's urban housewives are reported to can fruits and vegetables. They averaged 85 quarts apiece in a recent year.

The Port of New York authority expects that the city will be accommodating two million helicopter passengers in 1960.

World's highest automobile road winds to the 14,260-foot summit of Mount Evans, in Colorado.

On Broadway

The Headliner Mao Tse-tung hailed his "impregnable friendship" with the Moscow Mob and threatened to annihilate the U. S. S. R. Gangster alliances are jungle friendships—they are treacherous and demand blood payments. The so-called impregnable friendship was hardly fortress-like in 1927—when Mao and Stalin split and Red China's chief was exiled from the Politburo... Mao's contempt for human life cannot be underestimated. A bloody thread runs through the fabric of his life. His first wife was murdered by political enemies and he has killed thousands of ideological foes. Mao's current spouse is his 4th... When he led the historic 6,000-mile march—about 60,000 of his 80,000 followers perished—including 5 of his children.

In terms of military power, the fire streaming from the nostrils of Red China's Top Dragon is not as impressive as flames from American steel furnaces: Red China's steel production is one-fifth of the U. S. steel output.

The ability to grasp a fragment of sound and transmit it immortally is a genuine miracle. Not many have executed such wonders so often as Irving Berlin—who has composed over 800 tunes... The Congressional Medal awarded him is an expression of national gratitude for the numerous melody trophies he has given us... Berlin's initial song, "Marie from Sunny Italy," netted exactly 37 cents in royalties. Another Berlin melody was rejected by some publishers. Finally, he prevailed upon George M. Cohen to sing it at a benefit. It became Irving's initial big check and is an American classic: "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

Artistry is always gladly renewed and pleasantly prolonged. Garbo's "Camille" movie, after all these years, has become a potent box office lure. The star, however, maintains her retreat from the spotlight. Although the public sees the reflection of an aloof personality, Garbo's friends are aware of her spiritual warmth. Once when she was depressed, a friend asked why. She earnestly explained: "I had an awful row with God this morning."

Since history is a composite of numerous biographies, it is filled with the drama and irony of life. During World War Two, a Russian became chief of the Soviet plane and tank production. Efficiency was his religion—in efficiency became a strenuous crime. The boss of machines sought to transform humans into well-oiled cogs. No errors were tolerated, no compassion was extended. Workers who were ill or failed to fill their required production quotas were called on that efficiency. Efficiency, otherwise known as General Malenkov, was just fired for being inefficient.

A bottle of heavily salted water carried in the car glove compartment sunbats an economical means of de-icing windshields quickly.

W. B. Bogart Is Married In Lansdowne

Bushkill — Miss Dorothy Margaret Tebo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Tebo, 114 W. Drexel Ave., Lansdowne, became the bride of William Brank Bogart, son of Mrs. Marie Bogart and the late William S. Bogart of Bushkill on Saturday, February 26, at 3:30 p.m. at the Lansdowne Baptist Church. Rev. Wilson H. Rinker, Charlevoix, Michigan and Rev. Milton C. Westphal of Lansdowne performed the ceremony. Mrs. E. Allen Palmer presided at the console with a medley of inspirational music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Kenneth P. Tebo. She was attired in a floor length dress of white satin and Chantilly lace with long lace sleeves and carried a white Bible and two white camellias.

The maid of honor Miss Eleanor M. Seel wore a floor length gown of Cell blue made of Peau d'Esne and carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Arlington Moyer Jr., Broadheadville, served as his brother-in-law's best man. Ushers were Richard K. Tebo, brother of the bride, and Eugene Brehm, U. S. Navy.

A wedding dinner was held at the Plaza Inn, Lansdowne. The bride is a graduate of the Lansdowne High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of the East Stroudsburg High School and has served three years with the U. S. Navy now rated Photographer Mate 3rd Class.

Following their wedding trip the bride will reside with her parents until the groom's service with the Navy is terminated, at which time he will enter a Theological college and Seminary.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There's one thing you can do in print that you can't do in person and that's tell about your vacation. "How was your vacation?" that's what they ask you. But before you can open your mouth to tell them in detail just how wonderful it was, they start telling you about what you missed not being home.

There was the fine weather, and the fun they had at the wedding reception, and the wonderful program at the club meeting, and of course the Community Chorus program which was out of this world, and if you want to drive down to Blairstown Monday night you can hear it—

All of which is undoubtedly true. It's also true that nothing is duller than somebody else's vacation, but a typewriter can't talk back so if you don't want to hear about my vacation just go read something else.

We went to Washington. We saw Congress in session and visited our Congressman. We traveled hundreds of miles through marble statues and stairways. We ate in the Senate snack bar. We saw "Tallulah Bankhead" in "Dear Charles" and went to a dinner dance at the Shoreham with 24 of Louisiana's "queens." We saw Bill Brown from East Stroudsburg guiding a group around the Capitol. The guard at the National Museum was from Scranton and spent his summers in Barrett. And Charlie Bruch was bustling about the halls of Congress on all sorts of errands.

We had a "minute car-wash"; and went to Mount Vernon, and we toured half a dozen of Arlington's 44 new schools. Now there's something our local PTA's would enjoy. The population of Arlington in ten years has increased from 45,000 to 165,000 and the schools have kept up—but only because of the PTA's who got in back of the drive, even to the extent of having a state law passed to permit them to elect rather than appoint their school boards.

We went to church, quite accidentally, with President Eisenhower. A nine o'clock service it was with a small congregation and the President just three rows ahead.

Then we went to Atlantic City to catch our breath and catch up with our memories. And we had a wonderful time, and we're all rested up—almost enough to start another vacation. So there.

Ovation Given Chorus For "American Heritage"; To Be Repeated At Blairstown

The moving power of the music of the Pocono Community Chorus and the words which wove that music into a whole, brought Saturday night's audience to their feet for a standing ovation at the conclusion of "Our American Heritage," given two nights at Stroudsburg High School auditorium under the auspices of the General Hospital Auxiliary.

Humor and pathos, rollicking "corn" and moving solemnity marked the music, selected and directed by Earl Willhoite. Intensifying the mood and relating each song to the next and weaving them into the pageant of America was the script, written and narrated by Mrs. Harold B. Flagler.

The audience made up in appreciation what they lacked in numbers. There were only about 500 at both performances. Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, president of the Hospital Auxiliary, announced that the proceeds from ticket sales, patrons and program would not be known until the auxiliary meeting next Tuesday night.

For those unable to attend either night, another opportunity to hear the production is offered by the performance tonight at Blairstown at 8:15. "The American Heritage" will be given by the Pocono Community Chorus to mark the opening of the Red Cross campaign for funds in Blairstown. Admission will be by showing the receipt for a contribution to the Red Cross Drive in any community.

The whole production had a gay informality, a local connotation that won the audience from the start. It was performed without intermission and the changes in costume and in settings were accomplished with simplicity. The neckerchiefs became earmuffs for the women and the men donned overcoats to become a football crowd as football players in full regalia from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College led by Coach Eugene Martin poured in from the back and sides of the auditorium for the "You Gotta Be a Football Hero" number. The piano on which Wallace Hornbrook wrought miracles, featured on the stage for Tom Waring's composition of "I'll Wait For My Love," was moved off-stage under the direction of a tough sergeant for the final numbers.

The same informality found its way into the script, too, where Mrs. Flagler calling the role of early settlers worked in the names of present day families descended from those settlers.

There was gaiety in "Kathryn's Wedding Day" with solos by Leon Ratajezak and Shlimer Kublik; in the square dance "Skip to My Lou," arranged by Willhoite; in the clowning of the quartette, featuring Robert Wolbert, Robert Altomero, Robert Strunk and Peter Wyckoff, with Richard Walters as soloist in "A Man's Best Friend Is His Horse." There was nostalgia in the World War One "Till We Meet Again" sung by Christina Coslett and Robert Altomero; there was solemnity in the Thanksgiving Proclamation read by Peter Wyckoff; and in the "Honey MaTov," with Shlimer Kublik as Leader, and in the "Adornamus Te Christe" and "Oh, Worship the King," which exemplified the diversity of religion in the new land.

And there was power in Jean Wolbert's "Deep River" and the spirituals, and power to spare in the tremendous finale of words and music: "No Man Is An Island," "In Solemn Silence," "Taps," and "The Lord's Prayer," intensified by the narrator's challenge to the audience as citizens of the world, remembering and preserving the "American Heritage." Lighting and stage management by Lou Metz added to the effectiveness of the performance.

Following the business session, Mrs. Richard Post, vice president and program chairman, presented the program on the topic, "Mountains To Be Moved," dealing with the peoples in India, Pakistan and Ceylon. Next meeting date will be on March 24, at the home of Mrs. Post.

Upon adjournment, refreshments were enjoyed by the following: Rev. C. F. Spangenberg, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Vida Sickler, Mrs. Walter Lindstedt, Mrs. Richard Post, Mrs. Paul Barry, Miss Lola Henry, Miss Price, Miss Winnie Goll and Mrs. Laura Goll.

There was a day when I wore wings, and, since this may never happen again, it's a day to remember. They weren't glamorous and soft with feathers, as were those worn by Vera Zozina in "I Married An Angel." They were stiff and unyielding—of a white buckram. But I had sat proudly with five other Brownies who were to be angels, and personally applied the shiny gold and silver specks that glimmered around the edge. The same gold and silver—along with purple, red, black, white and green—are available in glass tubes priced at 20¢ each in our stationery department. A little glue, a lot of glitter, and you can have everything from—well, from A to wings. Keep this in mind next time you're decorating for a party or just to be arty. . . . Also in our stationery department I have found an entire rack of Viewmaster reels that take one on a tour of America. One packet contains views of our own Pennsylvania. This is a wonderful inexpensive way of acquainting your youngsters with the wonders of our nation—and much cheaper than travel. Each packet of these reels is priced at $1. . . . New in our accessories department are the velvet leis featuring pretty blossoms, many centered with sequins. These are priced at $1.98. This spring one needn't be a Vassar girl to look pretty with a daisy chain! Plastic chains, decorated here and there with cloth flowers of varied kinds and colors, are available with matching earrings. In this particular case, daisies DO tell. They tell of one's quick eye, and appreciation for a decidedly new, decidedly feminine style. . . . Another item that intrigues us at the accessories counter is the feathered bird made of Scottish plumes. A bright pin for lapel or collar, these are ticketed at $1.50 and $1.98. This spring, it seems, we'll all "feather" our best. . . . Bea Gorgy's department is also bright with something new in hankies, including those especially embroidered with the insignia of the Rebekahs and the Eastern Star. There are St. Patrick hankies too in several styles, and a Swiss-embroidered hanky with the map of Pennsylvania, showing our state flower, and such interesting places as Allentown, Lancaster, Reading, DELAWARE WATER GAP, and the marvelous Pocono Mountains. . . . New in our housewares department are the 9-piece juice sets and 10-oz. glasses in Gaytime glass, manufactured by Gap Fad of California. This ware is delightful, I think—the plain, rather thick crystal being "threaded" with a color that absolutely will not wear or scrape off. My choice is pink, but you may prefer the black, or aqua. Refreshment sets in this same pattern are equally smart. The glass sets come in stands of wrought iron, or wrought iron combined with brass. Think of Gaytime glass for gay entertaining—it's spirit is as blithe as a hostess could desire!

Archibald Carries New Installation

IF YOU HAVE a shower in your home, you know what kind of problems a cantankerous shower curtain can give you.

It's an almost impossible job to keep them in place during a shower, water drips over the edge of the tub and makes a mess of your waxed floor, and their use is rather short-lived.

But now every homeowner can afford the convenience and luxury of the new permanent ShoweRite Bath Enclosure. You've seen the ShoweRite in the home magazines and now you can see it at the H. C. Archibald Company, 406 Main St., near Fourth.

The ShoweRite enclosure will delight you with its smart, beautiful lines and will mean years of happiness to your family's daily comfort.

All metal parts are made of highly polished, heavy, extruded aluminum. The double ball-bearing rollers glide back and forth easily at a touch. The bottom track has drain holes in the side to allow excess water to run back into the tub. Your floors stay dry and clean.

ShoweRite is also fitted with heavy fluted or frosted glass which is set in neoprene rubber.

The installed price is amazingly low. You can pay as much and more for less sturdy plastic imitations.

The Archibald Company is also offering special prices to hotels and motels on quantity purchases.

The ShoweRite includes everything you need in "one package." Installation takes only a few minutes. Only six screws are necessary for installing.

Your bathroom will take on an added touch of luxury with a ShoweRite tub enclosure. It's designed to fit any standard enclosure, so why not examine the ShoweRite further this week at the H. C. Archibald Company.

Scotchlite Sheeting Useful

HAVE YOU ever noticed the many reflective signs that line the highways—the kind which seem to stab through the darkness with vivid, glowing colors?

The reason behind this sparkling nighttime brilliance is "SCOTCH-LITE," sold in this area by Paint Service Center, 517 Main St., the authorized distributor in this locality.

Motorists can't fail to see this brilliant reflection on roads at night. Light rays from car headlights are at eye level to the driver and other passengers—and are returned straight back to them from equipment and signs reflectorized with "Scotchlite."

Signs made of this brilliant material have a greater visibility both day and night.

Hammer Dents

Even a carpenter misses the nails with his hammer sometimes. When this happens and the hammer marks new lumber such as trim apply water to the bruise. The wood will expand and the dent will vanish. The carpenter suggesting this says the water should be applied only to the dent and not on the surrounding surface.

Ford-Wood Combine Efficient

AS FARMERS everywhere know, there can be a wide variation in the performance of combines . . . in their cutting, threshing, separating and cleaning of the crop. Before a single blueprint had been made on the Ford-Wood Bros. Combine, the design and factory engineers were told to produce a combine to do a job, not to beat a price.

They were told to design a 6-footer . . . with ample capacity for outstanding performance in all crops and conditions.

This decision has paid off in the field of hundreds and hundreds of farms, in all kinds of crops, under all sorts of conditions.

Advantages for diversified crop growers: Wide range of adjustment for reel, header, air volume. Also fast and easy cylinder adjustment.

Advantages for growers of certified seed: Wide range of adjustment. Positive yet gentle cylinder performance. Big, exceptionally efficient straw rack.

Advantages for farmers with irregular fields: Raddle conveyor built over a vibrating grain pan provides a constant flow of material to the chaffer even while going up and down slopes. Built with low center of gravity for maximum stability on uneven ground.

Sid Reckner's Bridge-Stop Serves Delicious Foods

HAVE YOU GONE to Sid Reckner's Bridge-Stop Restaurant lately? You should have, because you're not only missing out on the most delicious "old fashioned" buckwheat cakes you ever tasted but everything else that goes along with a good restaurant like Sid's.

His daily menu changes keep a variety standard that is not often achieved by some restaurants of twice the size.

You'll find home-made pies, too, with that individually baked taste that just can't be duplicated in the mass produced baked goods—and the coffee.

Man 'oh man, what aroma! You just can't resist that second cup to sip and enjoy after being completely satisfied with a meal that has all the attributes of having been prepared in your own kitchen, but much better.

Americans Appear To Be Brain Washed

"reactionary power" underground and were jailed.

Miss Mills was connected with Peiping University. She and Father Rigney were reported "looking well." It was not known whether they were tried and expelled.

Bersohn was wearing ragged and faded blue jeans and a dark work shirt when he arrived. Mrs. Rickett wore three blouses against the chilly weather and soiled black slacks. They looked pale but were not thin. Both insisted the Communists had taken "wonderful care of us."

Bersohn said he had delivered espionage reports about the Chinese volunteer army to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in 1951. This may have been a reference to the Red Chinese "volunteers" who fought with the North Korean Communists against U.S. and other U.N. forces in Korea.

He said he was arrested in a house near the Peiping Union Medical College, where he had been studying medicine since 1948. He previously had been graduated from Harvard and had done graduate work at the University of Chicago. He had served in China with the U.S. Army in 1945. During his duty tour, he said, he did "intelligence work" with the Office of Strategic Services. He said he did "more intelligence work" after his return as a student.

Bersohn made an extreme effort during the interview to praise the people who had held him in jail without a detailed charge for nearly four years.

"The Chinese government could have shot me for what I had done against them," he said, "but I owe them my life."

He added the Chinese Reds had saved his life twice, once when he was ill and the second time "because they didn't shoot me."

Bersohn had remained in Peiping after the Reds captured it from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces and was arrested by the Communists in 1951.

He declared the Reds "treated me wonderfully" in jail, adding: "Everyone in jail in Red China is guilty. There are no good people in prison. I was treated kindly and adequately fed."

"In prison we played chess and cards and read books and newspapers. At other times I reflected on my crimes against China."

"I want to be an honest person in the future and will speak the truth forever. I will not harm anyone again."

Mrs. Rickett and her husband also went to China in 1948. She had attended the University of North Carolina and during the war had studied Japanese at the University of Colorado to become an interpreter.

Rickett was arrested and jailed at Peiping in July 1951. Mrs. Rickett was kept under house arrest for a year.

Bersohn and Mrs. Rickett said they were formally sentenced only 10 days ago and then ordered expelled.

Mrs. Rickett said she had studied Marx and Lenin deeply in jail. She declared she was not worried about the sort of reception she would receive in the United States.

"I want to return home and be honest and work for the people and make up for the harm I did in the past," she declared. "In the past I did nothing but harm people."

Tom Howard, Stage Vet, Dies At 69

LITTLE SILVER, N. J., Feb. 27 (AP)—Tom Howard, 69, veteran stage and radio comedian, died today in a Long Branch hospital.

Howard was best known as the star of a radio program, "It Pays to be Ignorant."

He entered Hazard Hospital following a heart attack last week.

Howard, a native of Ireland, was brought to America by his parents when he was 11 months old. The family settled in Philadelphia and Howard's first job was in a grocery store.

Howard was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Black. He changed his name when he became an entertainer.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Harriet Howard; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Howard Hoyt, and a son, Thomas Howard Jr.

Dr. A. J. Harlacher will be out of town Feb. 26 to March 13.

GEN. FULGENCIO BATISTA (left), 54, after being sworn in at Havana for a four-year term as constitutional President of Cuba, is embraced by ex-president Morales Del Castillo. Batista took the oath of office only a few hours after police seized a big arms cache and killed two men in a running battle.

Fire Company Auxiliary Play Is Completely Cast

TANNERSVILLE—Casting for the "Funnybone Follies," to be presented by Pocono Township Fire Co. Auxiliary, is now complete.

The "Follies," a humorous variety show, will be presented Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. in the Pocono High School auditorium.

Stated to appear in featured roles are the following persons: Forrest Sebring as "Groucho Marx"; Eleanor Beeher as "Doris Day"; Harold Lotz as "Dean Martin"; and David Frailey as "Jerry Lewis."

Also starred will be Horace Werkheiser as "Roy Rogers" and Sylvia Werkheiser as "Dale Evans"; Ruth Howell as "Ma Kettle"; and Charles Brader as "Pa Kettle." Marcia Bloss will appear as "The Magic Lady of Toyland." Children who are dancing pupils at Mrs. Bloss School will be the "toys" in the toyland scene.

An "American Beauty Chorus," made up of Pocono High School girls will begin rehearsals for their part in the show on Tuesday.

Many other specialty acts will be included in the show, according to June Meredith, director of the show for the fire company auxiliary.

"In prison we played chess and cards and read books and newspapers. At other times I reflected on my crimes against China."

Kunkletown

Mrs. Adan Bohner

MRS. ADAN BOHNER accompanied Mrs. Carson Bartholomew to Lancaster for several days. Mrs. Bohner visited her son Roger, a student at F & M College. Roger was confined to the infirmary for a week with the flu. Mrs. Bohner spent some time in the library working on the history of the Kunkletown church.

Howard Berger, teacher of the fifth and sixth grades in the Eldred Township school, is a patient at the Lehigh Hospital. Mrs. Curtis Horton is substituting for him.

Miss Elizabeth Squires has returned to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Adan Bohner for the remainder of the winter after spending several weeks in Easton, Phillipsburg and New York City.

Colleen Ann, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith, was baptized at the parsonage on Saturday by Rev. Adan A. Bohner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Smale and sons, Richard and Robert, of Danielsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smale, of Palmerton, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smale. Richard stayed for the Washington birthday holiday with his grandparents and returned home on Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lobach visited Mrs. Hattie Hawk and Clinton Solt at Lehigh RD on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bossard, of Danielsville, and Mrs. Ella Vogel spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Adan Meekes.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ziegenfuss, Joan and Barry, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gower visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walck, Palmerton RD, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Byron MacBeth, of Bethlehem, had supper on Saturday with Mrs. Elsie Derhammer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nicholas and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Nicholas attended the Ice Show at Hershey Tuesday night.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Condel were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kren and son David, and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Mittman, of Bethlehem, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderko, of Hellertown.

The choir of St. Matthew's Church will again sponsor the Schneeksville Minstrel Players, "Dark Town Follies," on March 12, Saturday, night, at 8 p.m., in the basement of the church.

Freeman Smith, son of the late Asher Smith, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith. Others visiting during the week at the Smith home were Mr. and Mrs.

TOMORROW night's basketball clash between East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg High Schools is as natural as ham and eggs or a hot dog at a baseball game. Every thing points to one of the largest crowds in history and to one of the best games in the long rivalry. I don't believe it possible to cram more thrills into an athletic event than have been present in the last four meetings of the arch foes, over a span of two seasons. Each team won once last season and each owns a verdict to date in the present campaign.

Both teams will be shooting for their 12th victory of the current campaign. East Stroudsburg had lost an even dozen encounters, while Stroudsburg has been beaten only nine times. Each squad possesses three of the top scorers in the Lehigh-Northampton and Lehigh Valley Leagues. Stroudsburg's offense will be headed by Dave Nevill, Doug Shook and Dick Little. Eastburg's scoring load will be handled by Bill Pensyl, Bob "Red" Kupiszewski and Howard Smith.

As has happened so often in the past, a player with little if any advance buildup may come along to pace his school to the victor's laurels. Stroudsburg may feature either Dick Hintze, Don Deibler, Francis "Sonny" Dieber, Wallie Adelman, Tom Metzgar, or Bob Metzgar, who played so well in Stroudsburg's opening game 66-66 win over Eastburg, in the role of hero. Barry Lambert, Bill Sommers, Dick Gray, Danny Marvin or Jim Kimler are all capable of igniting the spark that will send the Cavaliers to victory.

The size, just like the scoring might, is virtually equal on both squads. Lambert, Pensyl and Smith lead the Eastburg rebound patrol, along with Kimler and Marvin, while the latter two are in the game. Shook, Nevill and Little pace the Stroudsburg rebounders, a group which also includes Adelman and Dieber when they are in action. Other performers mentioned above do most of the floor work chores and keep the enemy alert with some brilliant shooting ability.

Both squads have another similarity—length of winning streaks. On two occasions this season the Mountaineers have ripped off four straight favorable decisions. East Stroudsburg is currently in the midst of a winning routine that has reached four straight. Neither of the clubs has been able to win more than four consecutive times—but Eastburg will be in search of number five tomorrow.

Each of tomorrow's rivals will be at full strength. East Stroudsburg's Pensyl, who recently set a school scoring record of 37 points, seems fully recovered from a sprain fracture of the left ankle, and Kupiszewski will definitely see action with the Cavaliers, although he must wear a protective shield over his recently seriously injured eye. Otherwise, at least as far as this scribe knows, both teams have battled their way through the lengthy campaign without injury.

Little and Nevill will take a special honor into Tuesday's contest. The former was named to Lehigh's first all-opponent team, while Nevill was listed on the second. With Little on the first all-opponent club are Mike Dulik and Howard Case, Catsaqua; Merrill Eckhart, Slatinton, and Jim Oravec, Pal-merton. With Nevill on the second squad are Bob Miky, Pal-merton; Maurice Schleicher, Slatinton; John Myers, Emmaus, and Gerry Simcoe, Northampton.

Shook finished the second half Lehigh Valley League race as the ninth top scorer with 99 points, while Little is 10th on the list with 96 markers. Nevill, second most prolific scorer in the first half, is tied for the 11th spot in the second half with 94 counters. One thing missing from tomorrow's "Battle of the Boroughs" will be the presence of Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner of Pennsylvania's International scholastic Athletic Association officials. Maguire is currently recovering after surgery at St. Lukes Hospital, Bethlehem.

Early in today's column it was mentioned that one of the largest crowds in basketball history in this area will jam its way into the W. Main St. gymnasium. Anyone interested in attending the contest would be wise to purchase tickets in advance. They're available at both high schools and at the Lantz Store and Kresge's Drug Store in East Stroudsburg. Tickets may also be purchased at DeVito's Shoe Repair Shop and at Fieger's Drug Store. This will be a game that nobody will want to miss and it's the old first-come-first-served story on tickets.

ESSTC Cagers Trip Cheyney For Seventh Straight Win

Palaamen Win With Team Effort

CHEYNEY—East Stroudsburg State Teachers College rolled to its seventh straight and ninth basketball victory of the current campaign Saturday night with a convincing 106-94 decision over a Cheyney quintet that is doubly tough on its home floor.

The win was the second of the season over Cheyney and the ninth in the last 11 contests for the Warriors, who have suffered five setbacks in the current season.

Although the Warriors bettered the 100 mark for the second time this season, they suffered what at first appeared to be a serious injury when Walt "Moose" Bjorn was cut below the left eye early in the second period. The injury came during a battle for a rebound.

After first aid Bjorn returned to action and played a major role in ESSTC victory, especially in the rebounding department. After returning to East Stroudsburg the big sophomore had to have four stitches taken in the wound, but will be able to face Kutztown on Wednesday, at Kutztown.

ESSTC's victory, as all the wins in the lengthy streak, was strictly a "team" decision, with eight members of the squad contributing directly to the verdict.

Ray Kaseman, scoring 15 of his 19 points in the first half, kept the visiting charges of Coach Jerry Palaia in the thick of the battle during the first two periods. Cheyney led 28-25 at the end of the first round, but the Warriors zoomed into a 56-46 halftime advantage.

Charley German, ESSTC's fabulous freshman, teamed with George Heidenreich, veteran guard, in the second half drive to victory. German's shooting and rebounding ability and Heidenreich's "radar like" set shooting paced the Warriors into a 25-point lead late in the third quarter and a 23-point edge at the three-quarter mark. ESSTC dominated the third round, 34-20, and then fought off a brilliant last period rally by Cheyney, paced by Jim Parkig, one of the best performers in the state, to earn the verdict. Cheyney held a 28-17 advantage in the last quarter, but it wasn't enough to turn the tide of battle.

The victory was also the third in the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Conference for ESSTC thus far this season. The Warriors have dropped a pair of circuit outings.

ESSTC hit on the almost unheard total of 41 of 62 shots from the field for a mark of 66 per cent.

Kaseman made good on nine of 12 shots from the field; German, 11 for 16; Heidenreich, nine for 14, and Dunmore's Denny Sullivan, six for nine. German also captured 13 rebounds, six offensive and seven defensive, and Bjorn came up with 12 rebounds, three offensive and nine defensive.

Parker played his usual brilliant basketball to pace the scorers with 38 points, while tiny Clyde West tossed 24 tallies into the nets in a losing cause.

German led the ESSTC attack with 32 points, 22 coming on field goals and the remainder on 10 for 14 shooting from the foul line. Heidenreich displayed perfect form from the foul line, hitting on all seven chances, to finish with 25 counters.

ESSTC featured a 41-39 edge in field goals and converted 24 of 37 foul shots. Cheyney converted 16 of 31 charity tosses. Saturday's host now has a mark of six wins and eight defeats.

Wins Main Event
FORT PIERCE, Fla., Feb. 27—The National Sports Car Club opened its 1955 season with a four-race program today. Sherwood Johnston of Rye, N. Y., in a 4.5 Ferrari won the main event with an average speed of 78.2 miles an hour.

Early in today's column it was mentioned that one of the largest crowds in basketball history in this area will jam its way into the W. Main St. gymnasium. Anyone interested in attending the contest would be wise to purchase tickets in advance. They're available at both high schools and at the Lantz Store and Kresge's Drug Store in East Stroudsburg. Tickets may also be purchased at DeVito's Shoe Repair Shop and at Fieger's Drug Store. This will be a game that nobody will want to miss and it's the old first-come-first-served story on tickets.

LIU Continues Win String Against Normal Hill Swimmers

LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY'S powerful swimming team completed another undefeated season on Saturday with a 46-38 victory over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in the Norman Hill pool. The win was the seventh straight of the current campaign and 24th without a loss over a span of three years.

As a result, Schuykill Haven will draw a bye and advance directly into the finals against the winner of Friday night's Weather-Fountain Hill game, March 9, either at Hazleton or Slatinton.

Saturday's meeting of the PIAA committee was closed to newsmen (with the exception of a witness to the February 11 incident).

After the six-hour session, D. L. Learn, Palmetton, district chairman, issued the following statement: "According to the evidence submitted to the District 11 PIAA Committee at Tamaqua Legion Home, Saturday, February 26, 1955, it is their opinion that there was unsportsmanlike conduct displayed on the part of the player (William Sproule) and Andrew Kalen of the Coaldale High school, in the basketball game played at Coaldale on Friday, February 11, 1955."

"The district committee does not condone such action by any player or coach. Therefore, that Coaldale High School be barred from further interscholastic basketball competition for the balance of the 1954-55 basketball season as of this date, February 26, 1955. Further, that the District 11 PIAA Committee places Coaldale High School on probation for a period of one calendar year, date February 26, 1955."

The action drew sharp comment from Randolph Harvey, supervising principal of Coaldale schools. Informed over the phone by Chairman Learn of the committee's action, Harvey said: "I believe the penalty was too severe. I think the district committee was unfair to the Coaldale High School basketball team and to the other officials of the school."

"I am calling a meeting of the school board and will appeal the case directly to the PIAA in Harrisburg."

The Mahanoy City faction would not comment when contacted by phone.

The District 11 Committee will hold a special meeting at Palmetton High today, at 7:30 p.m., to decide which team will represent the Lehigh-Northampton League in class "A" playoffs this season. It is quite possible that Parkland, Wilson Borough and East Stroudsburg will be tied for class "A" honors in second half play after tonight's Parkland-Hellertown game.

Red Sox Leave White Home

BOSTON, Feb. 27—The Boston Red Sox special train left for Sarasota, Fla., today without catcher Sammy White who staged a last minute "principle" strike.

White said last night that he and General Manager Joe Conlin are at odds on a clause in his contract which bars him from playing basketball in the off-season.

"I wouldn't mind if other clubs had the same ban," White said, "but fellows like Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons have a basketball team around Philadelphia. After all, I played basketball for 10 years without getting hurt and I don't think there's as much danger in that as those ball players who play all winter in Cuba and South America."

John Carbone, Roseto, was named vice president, and Bill Pensyl, Portland, was elected secretary-treasurer.

All five teams were represented at the gathering and it was also announced during the meeting that both Hainesburg and Belvidere, N. J., are interested in joining the circuit.

It was agreed that an entry fee of $25 will be charged each team

District 11 Committee Bars Coaldale

TAMAQUA—Coaldale High School was ruled off the track as far as interscholastic basketball is concerned for the rest of the 1954-1955 campaign and placed on probation for a year by the District 11 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association Committee on Saturday during a meeting here at Tamaqua High School.

The decision was a result of charges filed by Mahanoy City accusing Coaldale coach Andrew Kalen of instructing a substitute player to "rough up" a Mahanoy City player in a basketball game played February 11.

Peter Irvin, the Mahanoy City player who was reportedly struck, suffered injuries to the face and eye. A school spokesman said Irvin will enter the Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville tomorrow for surgery and treatment of the injuries.

The action, first of its kind since the District 11 Committee punished West Mahanoy Township similarly several years ago when a Ram courtman knocked out an official, has a direct bearing on Thursday night's class "B" opener at Pottsville High.

Coaldale was to meet defending District 11 class "B" champion Schuykill Haven. The Tigers were installed as pre-game favorites on the basis of two exhibition wins over the Hurricanes.

As a result, Schuykill Haven will draw a bye and advance directly into the finals against the winner of Friday night's Weather-Fountain Hill game, March 9, either at Hazleton or Slatinton.

Saturday's meeting of the PIAA committee was closed to newsmen (with the exception of a witness to the February 11 incident).

Canadians, Russians Win

BOSS, Germany, Feb. 27—Favored Canada and Russia continued their domination of the world ice hockey championships tonight as each turned in its third victory but the United States remained in contention with its second triumph in three games.

The U. S., which lost its opener to Canada, turned back winless Germany 6-3. Canada and Russia, however, came through with shutouts. The Canadians blanked Poland 8-0 and Russia defeated its political satellite, Czechoslovakia, 4-0.

Pensyl is already at work on a set of by-laws for the league. Teams officially in the league are Stroudsburg, Portland, Roseto, Johnsonville and Blairstown. Ed Smith was on hand to represent Stroudsburg.

Stroudsburg, Roseto, Johnsonville and Portland will officially withdraw from the Blue Mountain League at a meeting of that circuit tonight.

Dentith Wins State Mat Title

LOCK HAVEN—Charley Dentith, freshman sensation of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College wrestling team, won the Pennsylvania State Teachers College mat championship in the 147-pound division here at Thomas Field House Saturday night and helped pace his team to fifth place in the final standings.

Dentith, a resident of Easton, also received one vote for the outstanding wrestler of the tournament, although the honor finally went to Bill Fisher, Millersville's 157-pound state champion.

ESSTC's first state wrestling champion had to defeat two of the best wrestlers in the tournament to gain the title, after gaining a first round bye.

Dentith outlasted Bloomsburg's Tom Welliver in the semi-final round, 4-3, and then came back in the final round on Saturday night to nip West Chester's Joe Piscitello, 3-2. Both matches were hotly contested and in doubt right up to the final whistle. Dentith is undefeated in dual meets this season.

Jerry Rushin, Charley Shaw and Ken Cox, all losers in the opening round, wound up with fourth place laurels in the star studded field.

Rushin scored a 4-2 decision over Joe Geezy, Millersville, Saturday afternoon, but lost in his bid for third place when Tony Meconi, West Chester, scored two points in the last eight seconds for a 3-2 win.

Shaw defeated Art Ruggles, Indiana, 3-1, Saturday afternoon, but dropped a heart breaking 3-2 verdict to Earl Lacy, Indiana, in the final round. Cox pinned Tom Sedon, Edinboro, in the 177-pound afternoon match, in 3:15.0, but lost to Don Wise, Bloomsburg, in the final round.

Dom "Spike" Petrino, the only ESSTC grappler battling for one of the top two positions drew two byes but lost in Saturday night's 123-pound battle to Dick Gelbaugh, Indiana, 5-2, Saturday night.

One of the biggest surprises in the tournament occurred when Dave Charles, West Chester freshman, won over Tom Musser, Lock Haven, for the 123-pound crown. Musser was shooting for his 13th win without a defeat.

Coaches at the tournament decided not to name an outstanding wrestler next season, but rather will award three trophies to the top three teams and medals to the three best wrestlers.

West Chester won four weight classes to retain the team crown. Heavyweight Ken Ober decided Warren Groff, Millersville, 6-0, to become the only entry to successfully defend an individual title. With Ober's help West Chester rolled up 57 points to Lock Haven's 42.

Two other 1954 winners lost out in heavier weight divisions. John Croft of Indiana, last year's 123 pound victor, lost the 130-pound final to Lee Bohner of West Chester. Ron McIntyre, Lock Haven, last year's 137-pound winner and entered at 147 pounds, was eliminated in the preliminary matches.

The point finish behind Lock Haven: Indiana 21, Millersville 18, East Stroudsburg 16, Bloomsburg 7, and Edinboro 5.

Other winners: 137 pounds—Lex Turner, Lock Haven, decided Larry Cramer, Indiana, 4-3; and 177 pounds—Edwood Reese, Lock Haven, decided King McClain, West Chester, 6-0.

Moscow Clinches Southern Title In Wayne Conference

HONESDALE—Moscow has captured the Southern Division title in the Wayne County Basketball Conference but designation of the Northern winner and the eventual finalists for the conference championship will have to wait until tomorrow when Waymart and Hawley meet in a postponed game.

TTHS Battles Barrett In Final Game

POCONO PINES—Barrett and Tobyhanna Township High School will officially draw down the curtain on the Monroe County League basketball schedule tonight when they oppose each other on the latter's home court.

The junior varsity contest is on the books for 7:15 p.m. and the main event at approximately 8:30 p.m.

This is the third time that these two teams have attempted to get together on this final contest. The tussle was originally postponed when Barrett High was swept by a wave of illness, and "pea soup" fog made it impossible for Barrett to make the trip last Monday, the original replay date.

Officials of both schools have their fingers crossed in hopes that the game will be played today. Dave Guthrie is expected to handle the Barrett varsity tonight in the absence of Joe Murray, who is currently recovering from a recent illness. Ronnie Davis, regular TTHS mentor, will direct his forces as usual.

Barrett will wind up the season in third place and currently features a mark of eight wins and six defeats. TTHS could tie Polk for fifth place in the standings with a victory tonight. TTHS is currently sporting a mark of three wins and 11 setbacks.

Pro Cage Results

National Basketball Association
Boston 62, Milwaukee 57.
New York 95, Fort Wayne 82.
Syracuse 105, Philadelphia 77.
Preston 29, Rochester 84.

Playoff Tickets Go On Sale

TICKETS for Wednesday's Monroe County League championship playoff basketball game are available at both Chestnut Hill and Coaldale High Schools at the present time. The tussle will begin at 8 p.m. and will decide the circuit championship now shared by the two rivals.

Student tickets are priced at 25 cents and adults at 50 cents. They also be sold at the door.

Coaldale and Chestnut Hill tied for the regular season crown with identical records of 12 victories and three defeats.

Jack Kist and Chet Gross, requested by both Coach Don Wismer, Coaldale, and Bill Frear, Chestnut Hill, will officiate the contest.

Warriorettes Even Mark At Cheyney

CHEYNEY—A big advantage in the first quarter enabled the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College girls' basketball squad to earn a 52-38 verdict over Cheyney, here on the losing team's home court Saturday afternoon.

The win was the fourth of the campaign for the Warriorettes, who have also been beaten on four occasions.

ESSTC, paced by Carol Sue Underwood and Joyce Fuhrman, jumped off to a 17-7 edge in the first period and a 30-20 halftime advantage. Both teams were rewarded with 13 counters in the second quarter.

The Warriorettes, coached by Genevieve Zimbar, made certain of victory with a 14-10 scoring advantage in the third round and both teams wound up hostilities with eight tallies in the last quarter.

Underwood scored 19 points and Fuhrman 11 to pace the winning attack, while Thelma Richi and Laura Raffin were high for Cheyney with 13 and 16 points respectively.

The Warriorettes play at home against Gettysburg on Wednesday, at 3:15 p.m.

Fathers Doubt Shame Talk Of Freed People

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The fathers of both Malcolm Bersohn and Mrs. Adele Austin Rickett, freed by the Chinese Reds, appeared skeptical today about the pair's assertion they were "full of shame" for their "crimes against the Chinese people."

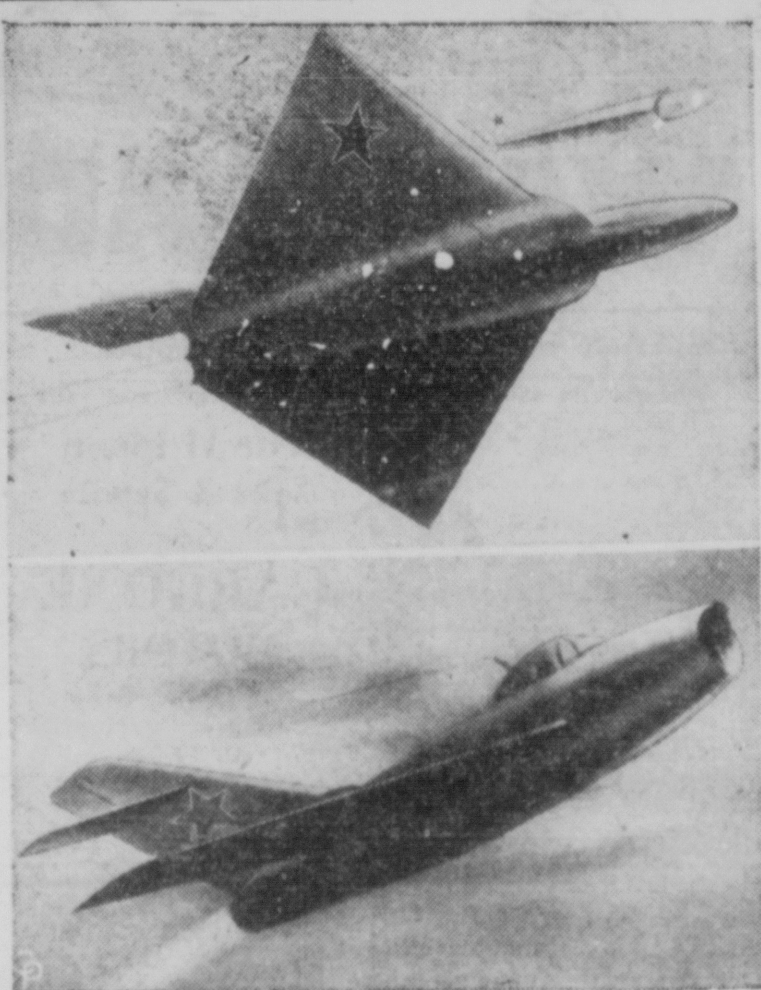

A. P. Bersohn, an attorney, said of his 29-year-old son's statement: "He undoubtedly had to confess to a lot of things in order to get out. I suppose he had to confess to that."

Reminded that his son's statement was made after he was away from Communist China, Bersohn replied:

"He's not home yet. Until he gets home he probably is going to say what he was told to say. When we see him we'll undoubtedly know the whole story. I won't comment any further. Let's wait until he's home."

Harold W. Austin, father of Mrs. Rickett, said at his Yonkers, N.Y., home today that letters from her in October and December of last year "didn't sound like my daughter."

As for the latest report about their daughter, Austin and his wife, Hazel, said: "She was brainwashed. She will probably need treatment at a hospital for a while."

At top is Russia's "Flying Rhomboid"—a new interceptor plane incorporating a double-delta wing design. The double-delta has an angle of climb of more than 70 degrees. At bottom is a sketch of the MIG-17, a new Soviet jet fighter, which is comparable to the U. S. Air Force's F-100 Sabre. The MIG's turbo-jet and afterburner give it a thrust of 15,000 lbs.

Syracuse Landmark Destroyed

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The huge Alhambra, a Syracuse landmark and the scene of the city's biggest social events early in the century, was destroyed today by a general alarm fire of undetermined origin. No injuries were reported.

Seven business places, including two restaurants, were located in the building.

Herman Pomeranz, who purchased the vast three-story brick structure the first of this month, said it would cost more than $350,000 to replace.

Pomeranz bought the building from Henry Onorato, known as Henry Andrews, a longtime boxing promoter in Syracuse. The original Alhambra was built in 1884 but burned in 1899.

Two New York Central trains bound for New York City were delayed one hour by hose lines across the tracks.
